Product.The present invention relates to an electrochromic mirror arrangement for motor vehicles, with a mirror carrier having a glass pane which is surrounded by a carrier frame, and with a front side and a rear side which can be separated from each other. Such an electrochromic mirror arrangement is known, for example, from DE 102 22 523 A1. In the case of this electrochromic mirror arrangement, the glass pane has a rectangular shape, and the frame has a rectangular shape. The frame has a bar shape in one part and a frame shape in another part. The frame shape has a rectangular cross section with a top frame section which covers the front side of the glass pane, a lateral frame section which covers the rear side of the glass pane, and a bottom frame section which covers the bottom side of the glass pane. Such a rectangular shape of the frame has proven to be disadvantageous when producing the electrochromic mirror arrangement, since a high production expenditure is required for the injection molding, with a high rigidity of the frame being necessary. However, such a high rigidity also causes disadvantages in later assembly of the electrochromic mirror arrangement in the motor vehicle.At this point, we assume Apple has to do something, because marketing gimmicks rarely work well for us. Nevertheless, we have to wonder what has really 3ef4e8ef8d
