Bulk Emailer is a handy and easy to use software that was designed in order to help you send mass email messages. The configuration is simple, so you'll be up and running in no time! We have a customer requirement to have a list of 10 different categories, each with a specific mix of categories, that are all sent one email. From the description above, I am thinking that a subscriber list of about 100,000 people would be a good way to tackle this problem. I have been asked to look at any other options before I go that route, but I have not been able to find any where I can send an email to 1000 different people with 10 different categories in each, all at the same time. Any other ideas or suggestions would be helpful. A: If you don't have access to a list management or service you may want to consider using a 'brick' list. Create a list with these 10 categories and you can add the subscription to all of them at once. To test if this is your best option it would be good to know if your list is big enough to have a decent enough signal to noise ratio to be helpful. Parents with children at Sandy Hook Elementary School, which was at the center of the Dec. 14 shooting that killed 20 children and six adults, and the school where the shooting occurred, Sandy Hook School, have had a constant presence at the schools and do not want to leave, the survey found. Those parents "feel it is not safe for their children's education to be interrupted by their own sense of security," the commission said in a report released Monday. On the other hand, parents of children at the school where the shooting occurred "feel anxious about sending their children to school knowing that the potential exists for something similar to occur again," the report said. "On the one hand, there is a natural concern for children and a need
