What's New In TreeDBNotes?

This is my first impressions after testing TreeDBNotes version 3.1.1 on Windows 7 x64 Ultimate. Personally I am glad that i did not purchase the early versions of the application (1.0, 1.1, 2.0). I don't like that it was released as early as 1.0. In my opinion it doesn't matter what version it is if you have to deliver it as a.exe file. It will have a bad effect on the buyer's confidence in your product. After testing the application i got convinced that this program will do the job for me. As you can see from the review, this version is the stable one and it has more features and improvements than previous versions. The only issue i found was that the price is rather high (95.00 EUR, but you can download it for free with a trial version). My first and personal feeling about this application is that it is a good all-in-one document manager. Other than some small issues which i'll explain later on, i think you can be satisfied with this application. How to use TreeDBNotes The installation package contains 2 documents. A ePub reader (eInfiReader.exe) and a template file (RVF format). You can use the reader to open the templates, apply settings and create new notes. Start your free trial version of the application. Run the TreeDBNotes.exe file. Select one of the template documents and choose an empty note with the given name. For example, you can use the note name "My notes". Select the icon theme you want to use and check or uncheck the options for the toolbar. Select the documents you want to add to the note. Use the context menu to select files or open folders. Now you can start adding information to your new note. You can add text, pictures, and you can also create tables. There is also a section for adding attachments. Choose the background color, font color and text color and also set other important settings for your note. Choose the color for the icons (for example, for text and buttons, use the dark color scheme). Now click on the icon to change the text color, adjust settings, or delete or create tags. You can also right-click on the text to edit it, add a hyperlink or create a bookmark. When you are done, click on the Save button to save your notes. The trial version will prompt you to purchase the application if you want to continue to use it. You can also use the application to create a web page for your notes by selecting a template and adding a text, picture or hyperlink.
