What's New in the EasyH10?

It is a program of software to manage files: even in a cluster of H10 players. The extension of the list is a nice story to share with your friends through a web page. The associations and the proposals are also very easy to use. You can use the program to organize and catalog your music: it is easier to download online music catalogs and create your own from scratch! Finally, you can use the program to exchange information with other users of your network. Let's not forget: you can also download the EasyH10 program from the web sites used by this site. The program is distributed under the terms of the GNU general Public License (GPL), version 2, so that you can distribute your music on the web without any problem and without any restriction. So, it does not matter whether you are a free software or a proprietary software. You are free to distribute your music on the web as long as you wish. To install the program, you can download the package and a support tool on the website of the program: easyh10.neocities.org The installation is very easy and very fast. Then, you can enjoy the program. User's Manual: Choose the EasyH10 command and the features that you want to use.
